

EPIC ENCOUNTER

SRI LANKA BLUE WHALES

BLUE WHALES We head to Sri Lanka in search of the largest animal ever to grace our planet, the Blue Whale. Giant, yet elusive, for decades only the elite in the wildlife film industry have had access to interact with these majestic beings. That is now changing.

SRI LANKA Each year, Blue Whales make their annual migration past Dondra Head, located on the southern-most point of Sri Lanka. Here, the continental shelf comes very close to land, creating ideal conditions that support an abundance and diversity of charismatic marine life. From January through April, Blue Whales can be seen in numbers far greater than most anywhere else on the earth, establishing Sri Lanka as the top destination to observe and interact with these magnificent creatures.

In addition to Blue Whales, the waters surrounding Sri Lanka are home to some of the most exciting of marine mega-fauna including, Sperm Whales, Common and Spinner Dolphins, Manta Rays, and from time to time, Orcas! The country has awakened after many years of civil war with a stable and vital culture, ready to embrace its true potential as world-class marine eco-tourism destination.

JOIN US Join award-winning ocean and conservation filmmaker Shawn Heinrichs, and award-winning conservation photographer Paul Hilton, to experience the magnificence of Blue Whales. After spending the 2009/ 2010 season in Sri Lanka, we have the right team on the ground to make your adventure truly an Epic Encounter.
